At Foam Villa, we offer Natural Rubberized Coir Sheets/Pads. Coir fibers, the outer coating of skin that encircles the conch of coconut are transformed into sheets & are sprayed with natural latex thereafter these sheets are placed in an oven & finally pressed to obtain Rubberized coir pads. Once these pads are processed we convert the same into required cushions as per specific customer size requirements.

Density & Coir-Latex compositions are the main parameters on which the quality, life, and properties of coir cushion depend. Higher the Density and Latex composition better are than the Coir Cushion properties and life whereas lower Density and Latex composition cause sagging and other quality issues.
